

MILK PRODUCERS HEAR ABLE SPEAKERS

There was a good sized gathering of the Milk Producers of this vicinity at the Council chambers on Friday evening and they heard two able talks by Prof. Rasmussen of the New Hampshire College and Mr. P. J. Durrington of the State Board of Health.

Prof. Rasmussen, who is one of the leading dairy experts of the country, is seeking to raise the standard of the dairies and herds in this state, and he pointed out the great advantages from a business point of view, the greatly pleased at the increase of interest shown in the state and he was very enthusiastic on the outlook for this state becoming a dairy state. He answered many questions.

Mr. Durrington spoke on the testing of the herds, and plainly stated what the Board of Health would expect and would demand.

MEXICAN REBELS PLANNING TO ATTACK TAMPICO

Reinforcements Arrive in Trainloads From Victoria and Onslaught Is Expected Soon.

Vera Cruz, Feb. 6.—That the rebels are concentrating in strong force for an immediate attack on Tampico is indicated in a wireless dispatch received here today from Clarence A. Miller, United States consul at Tampico.

Consul Miller, who has exceptionally good sources of information, says the rebels after they had been repulsed in a small fight near Laguna Puerta February 4, retreated to Los Besteros with trifling loss.

During the night several trainloads of reinforcements arrived from Victoria and the following day the rebels left Los Besteros and made a rapid advance movement toward Altamira and Tampico driving in the Federal advance guard and openly expressing the intention to take Tampico by storm the night of Feb. 4 or Feb. 6. report says, the attack was deferred in order to wait the arrival of rebel reinforcements from the south. These are expected to arrive the night of Feb. 8 and force a passage across the Panuco river and assist in the general assault by an attack on the undefended south side of the city.

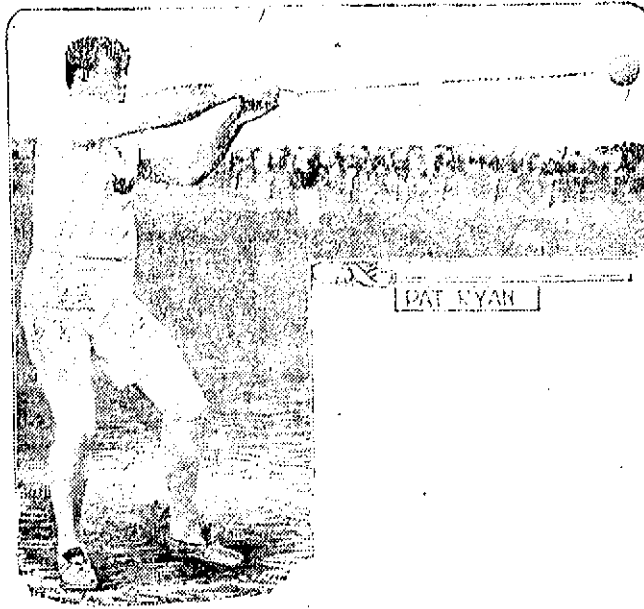

Destroy Water Tank
The rebels yesterday destroyed the water tank service 15 miles on the river from Tampico, leaving only a 24 hours' supply of water in the city reservoir.

The rebels have planned to use the oil tanks of the foreign oil companies and turn the blazing stream into the river with the purpose of destroying or compelling the immediate retreat down stream of the Mexican gunboats guarding the east and west approaches to the city.

The Vera Cruz is now the only gunboat at Tampico but others are expected.

The Federal garrison at Tampico has been greatly depleted owing to the dispatch of troops to assist in the defense of San Luis Potosi and the attempt at re-opening the railroad from San Luis Potosi to Tampico, which much additional damage re-

SPINSTERS AND SELF RELIANCE

"The women who need money most are the most careless with it I believe says the superintendent of a big New York philanthropic organization, which disposes of the handwork of women. 'The bank in which we have our account must take us for the number of checks on which we stop payment. We issue our checks to the women whose work we sell twice a month, and they are no sooner out than we begin to get letters saying that they have been lost. It is partly because the women are so careless that they are in as much need as they are, I suppose.

"They belong, though, to the careless class of women, the married women. They are always the hardest for us to deal with and to help. They have thrown the responsibility of everything on the shoulders of their husbands all their lives, and when they are thrown on their own resources they are helpless. A single woman is almost always more resourceful, even though she has lived at home. The married women seem to me in many cases to be almost devoid of practical sense. That is why they are so careless about checks.

"They lose them and if they don't lose them they fear them up. They are worried to death when they are gone, and some of them wait a month before letting us know, while they are trying to find them. Sometimes they use them for bookmarks. One woman used hers as a curl paper, and a third woman, who was in desperate straits and to whom we sent a check ahead of time to tide her over, declared that we had not sent it. She came hurrying down to us with the letter, in which she said there was no check. I know I had signed it, the bookkeeper was sure she had enclosed it, but we made her out a duplicate and she went off happy.

"It was three weeks before she came back to us looking very crestfallen and bringing the original check. She had used it to fill in a shoe which was a little loose in the heel. Evidently she had opened her letter and thrown the check out, then wishing to fix the shoe had picked up the first little piece of paper which came to hand.

"We always get the checks back if they are found—from the shoe, the bookmarks, and even the curl papers. The women are most conscientious and bring back the first check as if it was so much money."—New York Times.

"Good morning," the young woman said as she stepped to the window at the postoffice. "Is there a letter for me today?"

"I'll look," the clerk answered. The young woman blushed a little and she added, "It's a business letter." The man inside the window took up a handful of letters and looked over them hastily. Then he informed the customer that there was nothing for her, and with great disappointment on her lovely features she turned away—this time blushing more furiously than ever.

"I deceived you," she stammered. "It isn't a business letter I was expecting. Will you please see if there is something for me among the love letters?"—Philadelphia Puzze Ledger.

A Gentle Hint

"I was speaking with your father last night," said the young man. "Oh were you?" answered the sweet young American, lowering her eyes. "What were you talking about?" "About the likelihood of war with Mexico. Your father said if there was war he hoped it would be short." "Oh, yes, I know papa is much opposed to long engagements."—Pittsburgh Press.

Her Threat

A certain young couple who were married some months ago never had a cloud to mar their happiness until recently. One morning the young wife came to breakfast in an extremely sullen and unhappy mood. To all her husband's inquiries she returned snappish answers. She was in no better frame of mind when he came home that evening for dinner, all of which mystified the young husband.

Finally late in the evening in reply to his insistent demands to know what the matter was, the wife burst into tears and replied: "Honey, if ever I dream again that you have kissed another woman, I'll never speak to you again so long as I live."—Ladies' Home Journal.

SAVINGS BANKS IN TOWN SCHOOLS

Milford Board Encourages Children to Save by New System.

Milford, Feb. 6. Superintendent of Schools John Bacon announced Friday that at a meeting of the school board it was voted to authorize a savings bank system in the Milford schools and to purchase supplies and put it in operation immediately. The plan is in the commercial course in the district, under the direction of the teachers, will be in charge.

Each of all the grades and classes will be allowed to deposit money in any denomination. An elaborate system of accounts and checks will make it practically impossible and at the same time will give the commercial student valuable practical experience in this kind of accounting.

The funds collected will be deposited in the local savings bank, where they will draw interest. The children who deposit in the school bank will learn how to save and deposit money and will draw the regular rate of interest on funds which would be too small to deposit directly in the savings bank. This system has been carried out successfully in several cities, and people will watch with interest its effect on the local candy merchants and moving picture shows.

Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, February 7, 1914.

The Machine Age.

That this is the machine age, beyond anything ever before known in the world, is known to all who give any thought to the conditions of the present and the past. Almost all work is now done by machinery, even the machinery with which it is done being made by machinery. It is the age of wheels, cogs, belts and electrical currents, adjusted and controlled so perfectly that much of the world's work seems as if done by magic.

There are many advantages in this multiplication of machinery, and yet there are some disadvantages, chief of which is that the workers in industrial pursuits are becoming to a large extent a part of the great machine by which the world's work is carried on. There was a time when the shoe apprentice learned to make boots and shoes from start to finish, and the same fact applied to many other trades. Now the average mechanic or mill worker learns a single part of the business and is practically as helpless outside of his particular branch as a man who never entered a shop or mill.

When business is booming and all the wheels are turning this seems to be a good thing. Most men can do one thing better than they can do many, as is well illustrated by the old saying, "Jack at all trades and good at none." But it must be admitted that the system does not develop all-round men and that when the machinery stops for a time the men who are substantially parts of it are not in so good a position to help themselves as they would be if they could turn their hands readily to different kinds or branches of work.

That is one of the reasons for idleness when there is any slackening up of the great industrial plants. Thousands of men willing to work, but knowing how to do only one thing, are thrown into the ranks of the unemployed to help swell the burden upon the public until such time as the wheels start again. But there is no help for the condition, and it is one that it would not be well to change if it could be changed. It is the age of specialization as well as of machinery, and a man thoroughly trained to one kind of work is worth more to himself and to the community than the man who undertakes to spread himself over more surface than nature designed him to cover.

Let's Free the Toll Bridges.

There can be no question as to the sentiment of the people of Portsmouth and vicinity regarding toll bridges. This newspaper has for many years urged that they should be free and it is now up to the people to see that they are made so. After the New Castle bridge is made public property then comes the Portsmouth bridge. By all means free the toll bridges as a means of making a bigger and busier Portsmouth.

It is just what the wife beater deserves, but will not the more of punishment be "barbarous"? That is a term that carries more horror to the average American than the knowledge that some drunken brute has broken his wife's head.

OPPOSED BY BURLESON

Head of Department Desires That All Government Employees Stick to Their Duties.

Postmaster General Burleson has announced that he is not in favor of conventions of postmasters and other employees of the postal service, at least at this time. In a letter addressed to Senator Bacon, who made inquiry in behalf of the Georgia Association of Presidential Postmasters, Mr. Burleson wrote that a number of postoffices are now being organized for the purpose of standardizing the postal service, and that it will require some months to disseminate and put into practice the factors of this organization plan.

"As many changes naturally will be made among postmasters during this year," he adds, "and those whose terms of office are about to expire would not likely be interested, I am inclined to the opinion that no great amount of constructive endeavor would be promoted by conventions of postmasters during this year."

A Big Year For Nationally Advertised Goods

Mr. Merchant, this message is written after a careful and exhaustive study of trade conditions all over the country.

This is going to be a big year for standard goods of recognized quality because the manufacturers are going to make more determined efforts to push them than ever before.

Newspaper advertising in newspapers such as this will be largely used. And it is going to be pushed with the greatest vigor, and bring the best results in the places where the local merchants are ready to co-operate.

The manufacturers are willing to spend money to make a market at your doorstep, but they want you to let the people know that the goods can be had in your store.

They will send the trade your way if you are willing to care for it when it comes.

When such a condition exists, the live merchant should need no urging to do his share.

Let us suggest that you get in touch with the manufacturers whose lines you carry, and let them know just what you are prepared to do in the way of co-operative work.

It will mean better business for both of you.

The Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York, will be glad to answer any questions about co-operative work with dealers in newspaper advertising campaigns. Booklet on request.

motivated by conventions of postmasters during this year.

"When our plans shall have been further matured and more generally understood by the postmasters, such conventions can be made of great use in promoting an exchange of views among the postmasters and of solving difficulties of administration."

"I am inclined, however, to believe that at this time the tendency of the postal service is toward over-organization, resulting in the loss, in many instances, of too much time on the part of postmasters and other employees. This is especially true now because of the demands made upon us by the new responsibilities brought about through the administration of the parcel post and eight-in-the-law. It is necessary, because of these and the rapid growth of the service from the natural development of business, that our efficient employees be kept at their posts of duty as to successfully administer the service during this strenuous period of its history."

HIGHER PULLMAN RATES

Advance for Exclusive Compartments and Drawing Rooms

New York, Feb. 7.—March 1, a new and higher rate for Pullman compartments and drawing rooms, occupied exclusively by one person, will go into effect unless objection is raised by the interstate commerce commission. Notice of the new tariff adopted by practically every railroad in the United States has been filed with the commission.

Instead of charging a single railroad fare and a single drawing room fare as heretofore, the roads will now charge for exclusive use of a drawing room by one person, double the railroad fare, plus a single drawing room fare; and for Pullman compartments for the exclusive use of one traveler, the present charge of one railroad fare plus the compartment fare will be increased to one and a half railroad fare plus the present compartment fare. For long trips this will involve a very considerable increase in expenditure per passenger. The new regulation has been sent to all ticket offices of trunk lines leading into New York.

YARD WOULD BE HANDICAPPED

Mare Island Does Not Appear to Want to Build Tugs for Canal.

Nothing has been done at Mare Island as yet towards preparing estimates on the four tugs to be used for towing ships through the Panama Canal, and it is possible the yard officials will pass up the job. The Navy Department is simply giving the Mare Island yard a chance to bid on the tugs if there is such disposition here, but the estimates are not required of the yard. It is felt here that to prepare the estimates would be a bootless job. The suspension of the eight hour law which has been provided on these contracts, it is estimated here would amount to a handicap of 12 per cent in the bidding, and in addition to this, there are many ship building concerns in the East which have in stock patterns for the 1900 horsepower engines required, these being a standard type of commercial engine. There are other parts of the craft for which the commercial shipyards will also have ready many patterns and parts. It has been about concluded here that as long as other work is crowding the planners and estimators that it would not be wise to put in time on a task that would yield nothing to the yard record.

That Mare Island was asked to bid on the job is, however, an indication that the department has a high opinion of the efficiency of the yard. Putting it up against a ten hour day, workmen with no rationing with pay, and ship yards with patterns already made is some handicap, even for Mare Island.

RAILROAD NOTES

The Connecticut Public Service Commission has excused the New Haven railroad for the present from obligations to abolish certain grade crossings, owing to difficulty of financing.

C. M. Burl, general passenger agent is moving his office force to a remodeled suite of rooms, in the old Boston & Lowell section of the North station, Boston.

A grant to the President of sole power to determine whether the government railroad to be constructed in Alaska shall be operated directly by the government or leased to a private corporation is a feature of the program which territories committee and rules are preparing to put measure.

Commencing on Thursday, passenger trainmaster George H. Foote of the terminal division, Boston and Maine road arranged to handle inbound Pittsburgh division trains at North station instead of the old Fitchburg station, where they have been arriving since the burning of the lower last month.

Chalmers Howard Elliott of the New Haven road has notified the Public Service Commission that directors will refuse to release attorneys of the road from privilege whereby they have declined to give information of a private character at the investigation of New Haven "other expenses."

A new railroad 800 miles long to run from Grand Junction, Col., to San Diego, Cal., is to be built, if plans outlined at conference between Secretary of Interior Lane and a group of western men materialize, according to an announcement by the secretary. Surveys for proposed lines have been completed.

Railroads in Philadelphia may grant free transportation to their officers and employees and the dependent members of their families. This is the decision of the public service commission as rendered on the much discussed question of passes for railroaders' families.

Engineers under the direction of R. A. Thompson of San Francisco, a member of the physical valuation board of the Commerce Commission, have been surveying 22 miles of San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake railroad, between this city and the harbor of the same name. This piece of road is the first in the western division to come under actual work of valuation.

THE GOVERNMENT TO MAKE WAR MUNITIONS

Washington, Feb. 6.—That the government has practically set out upon the policy of government manufacture of powder and other war munitions was made clear today when the Senate Committee on Appropriations reported to the senate fortifications bill, leaving unchanged therein the requirement that war munitions shall be manufactured with the exception that ten per cent may be purchased. The army bill is expected to contain a like provision. The Senate Committee took cognizance of the need for reserve ammunition for field and state artillery and added a half million to the House appropriation for this purpose making the total $2,000,000. The total carried by the bill is $6,886,200. This is an increase of $1,720,000 over the house bill. It makes the allowance for fortifications

CURRENT OPINION

Popular Passion Firebrand Which May at Any Time Fire European Magazine.

It is usually admitted that owing to general considerations of the balance of power a war between any two great European powers cannot be confined to those two, but will develop into a conflict between the triple alliance and triple entente. That in many ways renders a war less likely, because in each case it must be for a cause that appeals to all three allied powers, but at the same time it brings before us the prospect of an eventual war on a scale never yet seen. That forms the basis of all naval and military considerations of the subject and therefore should equally form the basis of any consideration of the internal condition question, which is a part—an important part—of the naval and military question.

It may be at once admitted that the effect of such a general European war will be so catastrophic to the economic life of Europe that probably no statesman will dare to take the responsibility of bringing it about if he can possibly avoid doing so. But wars are not always the outcome of calculation or reason. As the farseeing Clausewitz put it nearly a century ago, "The Passions which break out in a great war must be latent in the people."

And as Jasmarek said, "Popular passion is becoming more and more a dominant factor in politics" as each state becomes more democratized. But popular passion feels neither responsibility nor fear of consequences, economic or otherwise. Popular passion in one nation insisting on action may force all the other nations into war against their will. It is popular passion we have to fear. Popular passion is the firebrand which may at any time fire the European powder magazine.—Major Stewart L. Murgay, late of Famous Gordon Highlanders and Authority on Internal Economics of War.

and ordinance and munitions therefore the largest in recent years. It is significant that $50,000 is added to the bill for reserve equipment in the Hawaiian Islands and $100,000 for the same object in the Philippines.

WORTH KNOWING.

The net debt of the 446 leading cities of the United States increased from $900,175,161 in 1902 to $1,801,129,085 in 1911, a little more than 100 per cent. In the same period the net debt of the Federal Government increased from $69,467,241 to $1,015,784,333, or only 4.8 per cent. The per capita net debt of the United States as a whole actually decreased, the increase of population having been far greater than the debt increase, so that the per capita debt was $10.83 in 1911, as against $12.24 in 1902, a decrease of 11.6 per cent. The per capita debt of the 446 cities in the same time increased from $44.19 to $67.31, the latter figure being 6.2 times greater than that for the United States.

OLD TIME MASONIC APRON

Was Brought to This Country in 1661 by Sir Robert Hooper.

C. A. Hooper of Eliot is the owner of an ancient and well preserved hand painted Free Mason's apron. This apron was brought to this country in 1661 from England by Sir Robert Hooper, who settled at Cape Cod, and has been handed down through successive generations to its present owner, in whose possession it has been for upwards of thirty years.

The symbols of the craft are neatly painted on the piece of silk, which is of excellent quality and does not in the least show the ravages of time.

The apron is highly prized by its owner and will be shortly encased in a glass case.

WANT CHEAPER RATES.

The audit service commission opened the hearings in the Manchester street railway case on Friday, and then put the matter over until next week.

The case comes before the commission on a petition for an order compelling the street railway to sell 25 tickets for 25 cents, which in effect would establish a four cent fare.

Gen. Frank S. Streeter and Hon. Edwin P. Jones of Manchester appear for the street railway.

GYMNASIUM AT STATE COLLEGE GUTTED BY FIRE

Defective Wires Said to Be Cause of $70,000 Loss—Students Make Good Fire Fighters.

Durham, Feb. 7.—Fire which was discovered by the watchman in the armory and gymnasium on the college campus at 11:45 last night caused a loss of about $60,000 and $70,000, before it was gotten under control early this morning.

The watchman in making his rounds of the building detected the odor of smoke, and when the college club room was opened it was found to be a mass of flames.

The opening of the door caused a draft and in an instant the blaze was communicated to the hallway and spread with rapid strides to the offices below and into two of the recitation rooms on the first floor.

The general alarm was sounded and every age of the students rushed to the scene and formed a fire brigade which by heroic work succeeded in holding the fire within the building and in getting it under control about 2 o'clock this morning.

Greatly hampered by the misfitting of the hose lines, the boys with great difficulty got a line from the NeSmith hall, which, assisted by the line from the chemical, drowned out the fire before it had burnt through either the walls or the roof.

None of the students of the faculty were in the building at the time of the outbreak, and had the watchman been a few minutes later in making his rounds it is believed that the entire building would have been consumed.

The college club and the office and recitation rooms are completely destroyed, but the gymnasium part of the building was not harmed except by smoke and water.

It is thought that the origin was from defective electric light wiring.

The building was erected in 1903, the funds being subscribed by the members of the Alumni Association.

It was one of the best structures of its kind in any college of the size in the east, and was one of the many features of pride of the institution.

MURDERED BY VEILED WOMAN

Newark Girl Is Shot Down in Parlor by Mysterious Visitor.

Newark, N. J., Feb. 6.—As Mrs. Harriet Manning, 28, struck a match to light a cigarette in her parlor to light the room for a veiled woman, who had announced herself to Mrs. Manning's mother, as "a friend from Philadelphia," she was shot down by the visitor, who, when the woman had collapsed against a couch finished her deadly work by a shot in the back, and then fled, firing twice at the dead woman's mother and sister, who were rushing towards the parlor.

The mysterious woman then disappeared and at a late hour the police had not been able to get a clue as to her identity. The mother of the dead woman favors the theory that Mrs. Manning's death may have been the result of jealousy, believing that the veiled woman was the friend of a man whom Mrs. Manning knew.

Charles L. Manning, 30 years old, husband of the murdered woman, was arrested late tonight. He and his wife have not lived together for two years.

The police later admitted that they had also arrested a woman whose name they declined to give, in connection with the murder.

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE—"CASCARETS"

Salts, Calomel and Pills Act on Liver and Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils

Get a ten cent box now. Most old people must give to "the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic and the bowels are muscular.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages but never so much so as at 50.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a laxative can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

DISMISS WIFE MURDER CHARGE

State of California Fails to Establish Case Against Maine Chemist.

Los Angeles, Feb. 6.—A charge of wife murder against John A. Grondin, a chemist, formerly of Waterville, Me., was dismissed today by Police Judge Joseph Chambers on the ground that the state had not established a case.

Mrs. Zeolia Grondin was found lying on October 30 with a hat box connected with a gas tube over her head. Grondin exhibited a note announcing her intention to commit suicide so that he could go to the woman he loved. The state contended that this note was a forgery, but it was not brought into the evidence.

Grondin's case attracted attention, because soon after being arrested he told a ghost story of being taken by detectives to the apartment where his wife died. He said the officers wanted to be pardoned before him a woman in a white robe treated with phosphoric arsenic, which was a climax to the 3rd degree treatment, to get him to confess.

He was graduated in 1872 and was assigned to the Tuscarora on duty on the Pacific coast and the South Sea Islands, engaged in deep-sea soundings. He was commissioned ensign in 1872, master in 1878, and Lieutenant in 1885. He was the senior instructor and navigator of the nautical school ship St. Mary's in 1889, and after giving up that duty he served as secretary of the International marine conference. He commanded the Britus, on a tour from Monterey, Cal., to Manila in 1898, and the following year established a nautical school in Manila, being its first president. In 1910 he reached bug rank and was named as commandant of the Puget Sound yard.

CANAL MENACE WITHOUT BIG NAVY

Rear Admiral Charles D. Sigbee retired, commander of the Maine at the time she was blown up in Havana Harbor, spoke on "The Influence of the Panama Canal on our future navy policy" at the first of a series of "table talks" at the New York Press Club yesterday. The canal, he said, would cut five thousand miles from the passage of our ships from Japan to coast of the country, but it would serve the same purpose for other nations with which we might be at war. If they got control of it, hence the need of a navy which could crush any thing that stood in its way. "A navy ation of vast estates by Robt. takes Multi-Millionaire's House a Living.

RAZAS FAMILY IS POOR

Tex., Feb. 6.—The income tax up by three years, Alberto Terrazas, of all whose name in Mexico is a sign for great wealth has been led to seek means of livelihood. Information became known day with the departure of Terrazas, Cal. He was accused by his family, but not by the real estate of servants.

Pasadena, Terrazas expects to leave a small farm where he takes a modest living. He is one who sees no prospect of his native land, and until 1911 is restored the income of his family, estimated at $400,000,000, will be lost even in the event of peace.

He was then permitted to join his family, and is still there. The additional ransom now demanded is $250,000, but it is believed that Gen. Villa refers to hold him as a hostage to demand other members of the family to finance a new revolt in the north, to harass the Rebel rear on its march to Torreon.

In the early days of armed disorder in Mexico, those of the Terrazas family who came to the United States were in almost regal state, and at hotels and clubs were received for the party. How much money the older Terrazas has on this side of the border is not known, but his intimates say it is comparatively little.

He, like his sons, always had an anchor to windward in the way of investments in the United States, but in refuge in this city, in land heavy expenses have eaten them all from Pres. Juarez and Port-more in the home, Alberto, it is said, does not accept aid from his father's reduced stock. When he and his wife and children boarded the train, the only servant in the party was an old nurse.

London, Feb. 6.—While "respect for his high character and fine ideal moves the Globe to wish President Wilson well out of his troubles in connection with Mexico, Peru and Haiti, whose blood-stained administrations challenge the President's policy of non-recognition it considers his position impracticable.

"The expedition of sanctioning and supporting civil war in a neighboring state," the Globe says, "is a declaration of war in a form which can hardly be reconciled with the comity of Nations. The danger of the situation from the point of view of the United States is that there is no retreat with honor from the uncompromisingly impracticable position President Wilson has taken up."

MAIL BOXES ON STREET CARS

Postmaster Merritt of the Washington postoffice has been authorized by First Asst. Postmaster General Rogers to permit and supervise a test of mail boxes on street cars to be made for a limited time. This authority was asked by a Baltimore company which is to arrange with the car lines and equip the cars for the test. It is said that the Capital Traction Co. declined to permit boxes to be attached to its cars, but that the Washington Railway and Electric Co. has agreed to the test on one of its lines. No definite announcement of the fact has yet been made.

The new box is to be attached to the car and nearest the motorman. It has an open top, so any person may drop a letter in the box as the car passes him, (as has been demonstrated it is said at a speed of from three to four miles per hour.) The schedule of service will in no wise be hampered. In this way persons living along the route or the cars from Laurel to Washington will be enabled to mail their letters every fifteen minutes when the car passes, and have the letters taken immediately to the main postoffice in Washington, whence they will be forwarded to destination.

At the parsonage of the Court street Christian church 814 Islington street, the 22nd of January Miss Carrie E. Jenkins and Mr. Warren L. Miles were united in marriage by Rev. Percy Warren Caswell.

ALL FAVORED FREE BRIDGES

They could know how they were working as he asked Major Urch who was present, to give some information.

Major Urch said that he was not one of the petitioners and that he was there to listen and after the petitioners had their case in he would make his case.

Representative W. T. Donnell said that when the bill was passed by the last legislature, it was not aimed particularly at the New Castle bridges but was state wide. It was up to the petitioners to show to the County Commissioners that there was a public need of such a free highway across these bridges. Personally he was in favor of a free bridge.

Hon. W. E. Marvin was the next speaker and he briefly outlined the law pertaining to this case and he said that it was necessary that the Commissioners get an expression of opinion on the freeing of the bridge, the cost or damages was a matter of evidence. There was the question if the County could stand the additional burden of these bridges. He explained that the law stated that the cost should be apportioned by the Commissioners, one-third between the city of Portsmouth and the town of New Castle and two thirds to the county.

The question here is whether the public good requires the laying out of this highway, the expressions of opinion here are evidence and after that is in the Commissioners' hands. Personally he was greatly in favor and in his opinion the public good required the taking over of the bridges.

Mr. Haywood of New Castle said that he thought that a show of hands or the test vote was all that was required but Commissioner Hodgdon said that he did not think so they desired to hear others.

President Frederick M. Sles of the Board of Trade and Merchants Exchange, said that everybody wanted to see the New Castle Bridges free while his association did not take any part, as a body he had asked the merchants to be at the hearing and there was a large delegation present. He was in favor of a free bridge and he stated that a toll bridge was nothing but an embargo on trade.

Mr. Elmer E. Eaton chairman of the Board of Selectmen for Rye, recalled some of the burdens that the toll bridge imposed on the residents of that town. The additional cost on goods etc. He figured no matter what they apportioned to the town, it would cost the citizens less in the way of taxes than in the cost of toll each year.

Supt. S. H. Harding of the Life Saving service, a resident of New Castle, said that he thought everybody favored the bridge being freed. He claimed that the toll bridge had kept the town back as a summer resort, for the rich man objects to paying a toll much more than the poor man. They consider it a hold-up.

Mr. R. C. Margeson, of the firm of Margeson Brothers, said that as a small tax payer he was greatly in favor of the bridge being freed.

Mr. Harry J. Freeman said that while he favored the freeing of the bridge he would like to know what it would cost him first. It was all right to talk taking over the bridges, but the cost to the tax payers must be considered. He asked if the state shared any part and Chairman Bean said no.

Mr. Fred A. Gray said he understood that Major Urch was taxed but for $5000. He wanted to know what the cost would be. He favored the freeing of the bridge.

Dr. Joseph Boylston said that the bridges themselves were the best evidence that they were required for the public good. It was just a question whether it would be a public or private ownership.

Mr. Edwin Seybolt, clerk of the Board of Trade and Merchants Exchange, said that as a good sized tax payer he favored a free bridge. He cited the report of the bridge proprietors to the Public Service Commission that the value of the bridges was $32,000 the gross proceeds were $4640 for last year with an expense of maintenance of $1800. This expense was not very great.

Mr. Pickering said that he was trying to find out what the basis was on which the valuation could be figured. Mr. Eaton said that the average cost to the town for the maintenance for the Wentworth bridge was $235 per year, for the past twelve years.

Col. John H. Bartlett was the next speaker and he lived the meeting with a stirring speech in favor of freeing the bridges. He said that he did not have any retainer by either side and would not take one. It was a pleasure to be just a plain citizen and express your own opinion once in a while. He would be disloyal indeed to his adopted city, if he did not favor such a project, it was a chance to strike a blow for liberty and to end forever the paying of a tribute to private ownership of a public highway. It was a well known principal of government that the government should provide public roads for the citizens to pass from one town to another. Tolls were a relic of the past and the city could not afford to stand in the light of favoring them. It would be a bit of good advertising to send broadcast the word that Portsmouth had freed his bridges. This was the time to do it. It was indeed a pity if the 50,000 people of Rockingham County could not bear the terrible burden of these bridges, which burden had been sacred for so many years on the shoulders of a single man. Major Urch should be paid and well paid for his life's work in maintaining the bridges but no threat of courts should be allowed to frighten anybody. He said that he was not in favor of the state spending money for macadam roads for automobile travel when the poor man had to pay toll to walk. He warned the gathering that if the Commissioners granted their petition then they should back them up by word and deed.

This concluded the petitioners' side and Major Urch presented his side. He went over the history of how he came into possession of the bridges thirty-seven years ago. After the company had petitioned the legislature for right to abandon the bridges and had been refused and how they then put up a sign stating that the bridges were closed owing to their dangerous condition and until such a time as money would be raised to make the repairs. He even had the sign that was used. At that time he made an offer for the property and the Assessors of Portsmouth and New Castle told him that if he would open the bridges that he could assess his own property and for years he paid $15 tax to each town. In 1903 thirty-seven years that he has owned the bridges, no person or corporation had ever offered to buy them and not a single person had ever offered to purchase a share of the stock. He had never stood in the way of the County taking the bridges, but he simply wanted to be compensated for the value of the property as one man dealing with another.

His answer to the petition was as follows: We represent "The Proprietors of New Castle Bridge" and the Lessee of its corporate property.

In submitting our answer to the petitioners in this case, we respectfully ask to submit to the consideration of the commissioners a few indisputable authorities, touching so far as we have been advised, the most directly upon the case at issue, and which we will submit in typewritten form, not only to this board, but to the general public by publication, if desired.

In our answer to your petitioners at this time we do not desire to be understood as waiving any legal right that may attach to us in relation to the subject matter at issue, and upon which the protection of our interests might force us to ask to be heard later on.

The fifth amendment to our National Constitution provides, that, "No person shall, "be deprived of his property without due process of law, or shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

And, Morrison's Digest on N. H. constitutional law, Page 146, Par. 33 is as follows—"The twelfth article of the N. H. bill of rights gives power to take the franchise, or other property of corporations or individuals, for public uses, by making just compensation therefor, but not otherwise."

See N. H. Reports, Cases—Piscataqua Bridge vs. New Hampshire Bridge, Vol. 7, Page 35. Also, Crosby vs. Hanover, Vol. 36, Page 404.

And the same authority, Page 147, Par. 33 reads—"To authorize the taking of property for public uses, the law must make provision for compensation. It is not sufficient that the owner may obtain compensation by an action for the wrong done."

"Had the plaintiffs"—the Piscataqua Bridge Co., seen fit to suffer their property to be taken, and sought redress for the injury by action, it might have been sustained; but this is not the compensation intended by law when property is taken for public use."

See N. H. Reports—Cases Piscataqua Bridge vs. New Hampshire Bridge, Vol. 7, Pages 30 to 70; Petition of Mt. Washington Road Co., Vol. 35, Page 134; Amoskeag Co. vs. Fernald, Vol. 47, Page 444; Ash vs. Cummings, Vol. 50, Page 531.

And: "Just compensation," is universally defined by the highest authorities as follows—"In determining the value of lands appropriated for public purposes the same considerations are to be taken as in a sale between private parties, the inquiry in which cases being, What, from their availability for valuable uses, are they worth in the market?" See Morrison's Digest on Constitutional law, Page 147, Par. 40, Case, N. H. Reports—Amoskeag vs. Worcester, Vol. 68, Pages 522 to 526.

"And as a general rule, compensation to the owner is to be estimated by reference to the uses for which the appropriated lands are suitable, having regard to the existing business or wants of the community, or such as may be reasonably expected in the immediate future." See N. H. Reports Case, Low vs. Concord Railroad, Vol. 63, Page 567.

"The damages, whether assessed by the commissioners or by the jury on appeal, are to be all such as may fairly result to the land-owner by the building of the road in a suitable and proper manner, not only on account of the land actually taken, but on account of the injuries to his other lands and property, and the inconvenience to which he is subjected. See Morrison's Digest on N. H. Reports, Page 680, Sec. 25, Case, Dearborn vs. B. C. & M. Railroad, Vol. 24, Page 179.

Judgments of the court, Parker, Judge, Case—Piscataqua Bridge vs. New Hampshire Bridge, N. H. Reports, Vol. 7, Pages 64 to 71.

Cases may arise where owing to changes in population, business, and intercourses of the country, the public interests require the opening of new avenues within the limits of exclusive grants, and in which the individual right should be made subservient to the public use; but this may be done without a violation of the public faith. Whatever the public require they are able to pay for—and it is not for the public interest that grants of the government should be held good so long as there is no desire to interfere with them—good while they are onerous to the grantee, and invalid when others may wish to participate in the benefits derived from them."

"A franchise is property. No part of a man's property shall be taken from him or applied to public uses without his own consent or that of the representative body of the people. New Hampshire Bill of Rights, Art. 12. This has always been understood necessary to include, as a matter of right and as one of the first principles of justice, the further limitation that in case his property is taken without his consent due compensation must be provided."

"It is not supposed that even the consent of the representative body of the people could give the authority to take the property of individual citizens for highways without the assent of the owner and without the indemnity provided by law. Such a power would be essentially tyrannical and in contravention of other articles in the Bill of Rights."

"No distinction is made in the constitution between property of one description and that of another."

"The legislature cannot empower anyone to do a wrong—and a right to take by wrong, would be a solecism."

"The corporation, like the individual is guarded from a despotic exercise of power. Whatever is taken must be paid for." N. H. Reports, Vol. 11, Page 23, Case—Backus vs. Lebanon.

Should the above high authorities—and we find none to the contrary—meet the approval of the county commissioners as a basis for an equitable and "just compensation" from the county to "the Proprietors of New Castle Bridge" and its lessee, for all their franchises, deeds, leases, grants, licenses, vested rights and other properties, we hereby promise to waive any legal rights and privileges that may attach to us, and to submit for the most searching examination and critical inspection, all our records and books of financial and other accounts for ninety odd years if deemed necessary; all our documents, reports and papers pertaining to, or touching upon, whatever has a bearing upon the transactions and management of the corporation and the lessee of its corporate property, now in our possession, for the space of thirty-seven years last past; including the daily receipts and cost of maintenance for the past three years; and we further promise the said commissioners, to unreservedly render to them all and every other point of information relating to the subject matter, its property or its accounts, that they may ask or require at our hands, and that is within our personal power or knowledge to give or produce, and further—

We promise, as corroborative evidence of the accuracy of the said records and financial accounts, if desired, to respectfully submit the names, and the addresses, if living, of every person who have handled our receipts of expenditures or ever made an entry in said books for the same space of the last ninety odd years.

All to the end that the said commissioners, negotiating in behalf of the public; and the public itself, may the more easily ascertain, determine and satisfactorily know the truth value to us, or to another "in a sale between private parties" or, "What from present use or their availability for valuable uses are they worth in the market?" is the just value of the full mile of private properties that the petitioners are asking you to take from us, for the benefit and use of the public.

The meeting then was declared adjourned.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Got a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

GUARD LANDED FROM NASHVILLE

Washington, Feb. 6. (Herald) Yesterday a guard landed from the battleship South Carolina, at Port au Prince, Haiti, to protect lives and property of foreign residents.

Commander Hostwick took action at the request of foreign consuls. Instructions to his landing force were to protect Americans, all foreigners and their property.

Davidmar Theodore, who had proclaimed himself Provisional President before his defeat at Gonaives at the hands of the Zimor brothers, is trying to set up a government at Cape Hatien, to which he retreated after the battle. He has appointed a Cabinet but, according to Commander Hostwick's report, he appears to be under control of his forces.

Latest reports from Cape Russell at the battleship South Carolina, at Port au Prince, expressed apprehension for the safety of the city. However, he reports no organized effort to expel the foreign naval forces protecting the city, though his earlier reports indicated dissatisfaction by natives generally at the presence of the sailors and marines ashore.

A committee of safety, headed by an American resident at Port au Prince, representing foreign residents and principal business elements of the community, also requested the landing of naval forces, and asked to have the Rebel Army now advancing on Port au Prince excluded until some form of government can be organized.

Capt. Russell is expected to carry out the request, if it becomes necessary in his judgment to protect life and property in view of threats by Rebel leaders.

YOUNG PEOPLE KNOWN HERE

Manchester, Feb. 6. While no special effort has been made to ascertain the whereabouts of Milford L. Bailey, who disappeared last week, after having left a note for his wife to the effect that he had determined to go away, still the young man so effectively concealed his intentions from everybody in Manchester that there is not the slightest clue as to which direction he took or what his destination may have been.

It will be two weeks tomorrow since he disappeared, the fact of his going away having been kept under cover until now. His going away recalls to mind his somewhat romantic marriage. He attended the high school, graduating in the class of 1900, and while a pupil there made the acquaintance of Miss Marion Newton, a bright and vivacious daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Newton, the two being classmates together. Their acquaintance ripened into an affection which brought them together often, and led to their marriage on Saturday following the class reception which was held on the preceding Friday evening. He was president of his class, also an officer in the Class Annual association, and in the Men's Alumni association of the school. He was active in social circles, a bright appearing, frank, generous and likable young man, and his marriage was regarded as most happy. He was very fond of reading, and devoured a large number of books yearly with avidity.

Shortly after his marriage he entered the employ of his father-in-law, and worked with exceptional industry and faithfulness. He handled large sums of money but his accounts have been found to be correct to a cent, and in going away it is apparent that he took only that which was his of right. He was paid a good salary, averaging $25 per week. He had a large personal following.

While the facts are not positively known, it is intimated that there was "a woman in the case," a certain woman with whom he was known to be on friendly terms having left the city some days prior to his departure.

Mr. Bailey left a note for his wife at the family home, 702 Union street, in which he said that he was going away, and said that it would be useless to look for him, as all search would be unavailing. He referred to his two children, saying that he had hidden them good-by. He was known to be passionately fond of the children Alice aged four, and Winifred aged two. He said in his note that he had hidden them far away. Mrs. Bailey awaited the homecoming of her husband until 1 o'clock on the morning of January 25, and her suspicions then being aroused she began an inspection of his room and found the note which he had left, and the disappearance of his clothing.

It is known that he could have had only a small sum of money with him when he went away, and one account where there was not less than $200 to his credit, he did not touch, and this has since been paid over to his wife. Mrs. Bailey and her two children are at present stopping at the home of Mrs. Bailey's older sister in Boston.

It is said at the Newton market on Manchester street that Mr. Bailey's relationship with all of his associates at the market was of the most friendly and cordial character.

FOR TREATMENT OF CANCER

Sec. Lane Sess in Death of Congressman Bremner a Plea for Larger Supply of Radium.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Sec. Lane of the Department of the Interior sees in the death yesterday of Representative Robert G. Bremner of New Jersey a plea for the treatment of cancer in its early stages and an increased supply of radium as an aid in the fight against the disease.

In an official statement today, Sec. Lane, who has strongly advocated legislation for the conservation of the radium in the United States, said:

"The surgeons in charge of the Baltimore Hospital were reluctant to use the radium treatment in the case of Bremner because, as they said, the one gram of radium that they could bring together in the United States for use in his case, would be entirely inadequate for attacking with any hope of success the giant cancerous growth that was sapping the life of the young member of Congress."

"But," continued Sec. Lane, "Mr. Bremner was anxious that the experiment might teach lessons that would help the common cause. His death is another of the thousands of pathetic appeals for treatment of cancer in its early stages, and for larger supplies of radium to help the surgeons in all parts of the country in the fight against this dread disease."

FOUR DAYS' INTENSE COLD

Prediction for Chicago; to Come in Wake of Snowstorm, Which Broke There This Morning.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Four days of intense cold with snow were predicted by the United States Weather Bureau forecasters here to follow the snow storm which broke here this morning. The storm was moving east and southeast, according to the forecasters.

Telegraph officials reported wire trouble west and northwest of Chicago. Communication was interrupted for several hours until a roundabout circuit could be established.

New York Police Want Him When
Time is Up in this State--Massachusetts to Claim Him Next

Today the New York police called the police of this city by telephone and asked considerable information about the man. He is wanted in New York for a similar offense as that of North Hampton and New York will have next call on him.

A warrant for his next arrest was forwarded here by the New York authorities and will be placed in the hands of Sheriff Spence pending his trial later. If he goes to Concord, the writ will be sent there, where the New York police caught him. After that, the Massachusetts police will get him from New York.

Sheriff Spence and Chief of Police Hurley are expected to arrive here with the prisoner on Sunday.

Little Miss Ruth McCaffery
Entertains Young Friends
in Honor of Event.

On Friday afternoon, little Miss Ruth P. McCaffery, of 186 Mary street, entertained her young friends in recognition of the fifth anniversary of her birth. The house was prettily decorated with crepe paper and flowers. Between the hours of three and six the little folks revelled in all kinds of merriment and all kinds of games, dear to the hearts of little folks were indulged in. Little Rosetta Clough was awarded a dainty prize for planning on the donkey's tail, and Dennis Sweeney received the boys' prize. The peanut hunt afforded much merriment and Dennis Sweeney was again the lucky one, and was awarded with an appropriate token for his success.

The little folks were escorted into the dining room where a delectable luncheon of dainty sandwiches, loaves, cakes, crackers, and candies were served, and the feature was the beautiful birthday cake.

The party all reluctantly left after six, regretting that the time had been too short, and wishing little Ruth many happy returns of the day.

The sweet little hostess was the happy recipient of many pretty remembrances.

That the present board of license commissioners believe that this city has enough of saloons.

That it would be hard to add another one to the list according to the stand the commission has taken.

The Evening Globe will have a wider field as a penny paper. The Globe under Taylor is at the head.

VETERANS

WAKING UP

Enthusiastic Meeting of Camp
Schley Held on Friday Evening.

At the regular meeting of Winfield Scott Schley Camp, No. 4, United Spanish War Veterans, Department of New Hampshire, held at their hall on Daniel street Friday evening, there was plenty of the old spirit shown, which made every one present feel the stirring times of '98. New members were mustered in and final preparations made for the annual memorial services in commemoration of the sinking of the battleship Maine, in Havana Harbor, February 15, 1898. This will be the greatest memorial service ever held by the local camp in its history and no effort or expense has been spared. Speakers of note will be present, besides many of the comrades who will be able to tell of some of the humorous sides of a soldier's life at the front, as well as the pathetic side.

Arrangements were also made to have a military ball in the near future, and committees were appointed to make arrangements for the Department Encampment, which is to be held in this city April 16, 1911 (Pam Day). The boys have long wanted to start something, and it only needed the able leadership of their new commander, F. W. M. Pope to put every comrade of the Camp on his mettle, and be ready to work night and day for the benefit of the organization.
